

NEW FACULTY APPOINTMENTS – January, 2007

Hui Cai, M.D.

Assistant Professor of Medicine

Dr. Cai has been recruited to Emory as Assistant Professor of Medicine. He received his M.D. degree from Wenzhao Medical College in Zhejiang, China. His post-graduate medical training includes an internship in internal medicine and an internal medicine residency, both at Brookdale University Hospital & Medical Center in Brooklyn, New York. Dr. Cai also completed a fellowship in nephrology at The Johns Hopkins University School of Medicine in Baltimore, Maryland. He will provide clinical service to The Emory Clinic and work on an NIH-funded research project.

Neal N. Iwakoshi, Ph.D.

Assistant Professor of Surgery

Dr. Iwakoshi has been recruited to Emory as Assistant Professor of Surgery. He received his Ph.D. degree in Immunology and Virology from the University of Massachusetts Medical School and completed a three-year research fellowship at the Harvard School of Public Health. Dr. Iwakoshi will be a member of the Renal Transplant Division of Surgery and will contribute to the enhancement and expansion of the transplant immunology program at Emory.

Howard M. Katzenstein, M.D.

Associate Professor of Pediatrics

Dr. Katzenstein has been recruited to Emory as Associate Professor of Pediatrics. He received his M.D. degree from the University of Illinois College of Medicine, and received board certification in general pediatrics and pediatric hematology/oncology, ABP. He will provide clinical service in the Pediatric Hematology/Oncology/BMT unit at Children's Healthcare of Atlanta.

Frank G. Keller, M.D.

Associate Professor of Pediatrics

Dr. Keller has been recruited to Emory as Associate Professor of Pediatrics. He received his M.D. degree from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, and received board certification in general pediatrics and pediatric hematology/oncology, ABP. He will provide clinical service in the Pediatric Hematology/Oncology/BMT unit at Children's Healthcare of Atlanta.

Nagendra S. Kodali, M.D.

Assistant Professor of Anesthesiology

Dr. Kodali has been recruited to Emory as Assistant Professor of Anesthesiology. He received his M.D. degree from Nagarjuna University in India and completed his residency in Anesthesiology at Brookdale University Hospital and Medical Center in Brooklyn, New York. He recently completed his fellowship in Pediatric Anesthesiology at St. Louis Children's Hospital/Washington University School of Medicine. Dr. Kodali will divide his time as a staff anesthesiologist between Emory Crawford Long Hospital and Emory Children's Center.

Vijaya Krishnamoorthy, Ph.D.

Assistant Professor of Rehabilitation Medicine

Dr. Krishnamoorthy has been recruited to Emory as Assistant Professor of Rehabilitation Medicine. She received her Ph.D. in Kinesiology from Pennsylvania State University and completed a post-doctoral fellowship in motor control at the University of Delaware. Dr. Krishnamoorthy has presented her research at numerous meetings both nationally and internationally. At Emory, she will continue her research in neuroscience and motor control and participate in student education and other faculty activities.

Franklin Lin, M.D.

Assistant Professor of Neurological Surgery

Dr. Lin has been recruited to Emory as Assistant Professor of Neurological Surgery. He received his M.D. degree from the University of Florida College of Medicine and completed a neurosurgical residency at Emory. He will provide patient care in the department of Neurological Surgery's new practice located at WellStar - Kennestone Hospital in Kennesaw.

Darlene A. Lobel, M.D.

Associate of Neurological Surgery

Dr. Lobel has been recruited to Emory as Associate in Neurological Surgery. She received her M.D. degree and completed a neurosurgical residency, both at the Medical College of Georgia. She attended six months of an advanced neurosurgical fellowship in movement disorders at the University of California in Los Angeles. Dr. Lobel will complete this fellowship at Emory under the tutelage of Dr. Robert Grossman.

Claire M. Mazewski, M.D.

Associate Professor of Pediatrics

Dr. Mazewski has been recruited to Emory as Associate Professor of Pediatrics. She received her M.D. degree from the Indiana University School of Medicine, and received board certification in general pediatrics and pediatric hematology/oncology, ABP. She will provide clinical service in the Pediatric Hematology/Oncology/BMT unit at Children's Healthcare of Atlanta.

Tamara N. New-Bailey, M.D.
Assistant Professor of Pediatrics

Dr. New-Bailey has been recruited to Emory as Assistant Professor of Pediatrics. She received her M.D. degree from Mount Sinai School of Medicine and received board certification in general pediatrics. She will provide clinical service in the Pediatrics Hematology/Oncology/BMT unit at Children's Healthcare of Atlanta.

Jaekeun C. Park, Ph.D.
Assistant Professor of Biomedical Engineering

Dr. Park has been recruited to Emory as Assistant Professor of Biomedical Engineering. He received his Ph.D. degree in chemical engineering from Florida State University. He worked as a post-doctoral associate and as a research associate at the Center for Magnetic Resonance Research at the University of Minnesota. Since that time, his research has focused on brain function mapping on visual cortex area with functional MRI (fMRI) and brain connectivity with diffusion tensor imaging (DTI).

Dawn M. Simon, M.D.
Assistant Professor of Pediatrics

Dr. Simon has been recruited to Emory as Assistant Professor of Pediatrics. She received her M.D. degree from State University of Buffalo and is board certified in general pediatrics. She will provide clinical service in the Pediatric Pulmonary Care Unit at Egleston Children's Hospital.

Christine M. Stoltz, M.D.
Assistant Professor of Medicine

Dr. Stoltz has been recruited to Emory as Assistant Professor of Medicine. She received her M.D. degree from State University of New York at Stony Brook. Her post-graduate medical training includes an internship and residency in internal medicine at Mount Sinai Medical Center in New York City. Dr. Stoltz will be assisting in direct patient care at The Emory Clinic.

Michael R. Terk, M.D.
Professor of Radiology

Dr. Terk has been recruited to Emory as Professor of Radiology. He received his M.D. degree from the University of Wisconsin in Madison, Wisconsin. He completed his residency training in diagnostic radiology at the LAC+USC Medical Center and a fellowship in Magnetic Resonance Imaging at LAC+USC Imaging Science Center. Dr. Terk will be Director of the Musculoskeletal Imaging Division of Radiology at Emory Orthopedic and Spine Center, Emory University Hospital, the Emory Clinic, and Grady Memorial Hospital.

Nicole A. Turgeon, M.D.

Assistant Professor of Surgery

Dr. Turgeon has been recruited to Emory as Assistant Professor of Surgery. She received her M.D. degree from the University of Massachusetts Medical School and completed a general surgery residency at the University of Massachusetts Medical Center. She completed a transplant surgery fellowship at the University of Wisconsin Hospital. Dr. Turgeon's experience will contribute to the enhancement and expansion of the organ transplant program at Emory.

Brent C. White, M.D.

Associate of Surgery

Dr. White has been recruited to Emory as Associate in Surgery. He received his M.D. degree from Duke University School of Medicine and completed a general surgery residency at Dartmouth-Hitchcock Medical Center in New Hampshire. He is currently engaged in a minimally invasive surgery fellowship at Emory.